

Tyson Library Behavior Policy

The Tyson Library Board of Trustees and staff strive to maintain an atmosphere that is welcoming and conducive for the use of library resources for learning and recreation. Quiet, conversational tones are encouraged throughout the library's main floor, conference rooms are available on the lower level for small and large group meetings.

Library users are expected to conduct themselves in a manner which shows respect for the library and others using the library. Disruptive conduct which prevents others from enjoying the library or which endangers people or property is not allowed.

Unacceptable behaviors include, but are not limited to:

- Smoking
- Public intoxication
- Solicitation
- Carrying a weapon or facsimile of a weapon
- Indecent exposure
- Offensive personal hygiene
- Abusive language
- Threats of violence
- Harassing or displaying unwanted attention toward another person
- Engaging in physical games (tag, shouting, screaming, etc.)
- Damaging any library property
- Unacceptable computer use (see the library's internet and computer use policy)

Library staff members may ask library users who are considered disruptive to leave the premises immediately. Habitual offenders may be banned from the library indefinitely.

Child changing stations are available in our restrooms upstairs and in at least one restroom located through the large conference room in our basement.
